

2022 Basic Amateur Radio Course

Barrie Amateur Radio Club Inc., email: info@barriearc.com

Webpage: <https://barriearc.com/>

Course Dates	Material Covered
19 January -	Start of course, Introduction to Ham Radio and start of Regulations
26 January	There are a total of 10 lessons to be covered in the 11 classes from 19 January to 30 March. Since each class is around 2 hours long, many lessons will be split over two Wednesday evening classes. There will be ample time in each class for questions and discussion.
2 February
9 February
16 February	Lessons: Regulations & Policies part 1 & 2 Operating and Procedures Basic Electronics and Theory
23 February	Circuit Components Station Assembly, Practice & Safety
2 March	Feedlines Antennas
9 March	Radio Wave Propagation Interference and Suppression
16 March
23 March
30 March
6 April -	Final Exam (Closed-book exam) – examiners to monitor by video

We will need to arrange a meeting with you in Barrie prior to the course start date to hand out the books and USB memory sticks. Preferred method of payment for the course is by e-transferring the money to treasurer@barriearc.com (indicate that it is for the ham course in the comments).

All classes will start at 7 pm on Google Meet video conferencing <https://meet.google.com/>. You will receive the meeting code before the course starts. Each class will be approximately 2 hours long (ends approximately 9 or 9:15pm).

The final exam consists of 100 multiple choice questions with a minimum pass mark of 70%. Obtaining a mark of 80% or higher will also earn you access to the HF (shortwave) ham bands. The final exam will be administered using video monitoring by the examiners via Google Meet.

In class we will be using the student notes found on the USB memory stick, with the Canadian Amateur Radio Basic Qualification Study Guide (9th Edition) from COAX Publications being used as a reference. Further information on the course and about ham radio is also found on the memory stick.

Total cost for the course is $100 ($60 if you already have the Basic Study Guide) which must be paid before the first class. Those who pass the course and obtain their call sign will receive a full membership to the Barrie Amateur Radio Club for the remainder of that membership year.

If necessary, the book and the USB stick can be mailed to you via Canada Post at your expense.